Acer Updater is yet another application provided by Acer for its customers to make sure they always have the latest driver versions installed on the system. While this may seem as a honorable method of rewarding Acer laptop and desktop computer owners, the problem with such software is its poor compatibility with the operating system as well as the overall impact it has on the stability and performance of the PC. While any Acer computer can survive without Acer Updater or any other bundled bloatware, the trend with such companies is to deliver pre-installed software that may or may not satisfy the general public. For some users, this practice is just wrong and even considered bad-intended. The first thing you notice with Acer Updater is the fact that you may not be able to run it on Windows 7 until you install a special update from Microsoft especially tailored for Acer Updater. There is a saying and it goes like this: "if the mountain won't come to Muhammad" and that's what Acer proved. They did not rebuild their software in order to be fully compatible with Windows 7, Microsoft had to make sure of this. Once more, it feels like computer manufacturers
